An ancient secret society...

A deadly virus...

A quest to conquer the world...

Spies, assassins, megalomaniac multi-millionaires, and fanatical religious cultists – just some of the remarkable characters that feature in this action packed, high octane adventure, written by a former military intelligence operator.

---

When Ella Moore, a brilliant Egyptologist at Cambridge University, receives a strange and unexpected inheritance from her murdered father – a cryptic note, a mysterious painting and a gold ring emblazoned with a strange symbol – she embarks on a deadly journey to locate an ancient and mysterious book.

Hidden for over two-thousand years, and protected by an ancient cult, the book holds the secrets of a long forgotten civilisation. Secrets that would rock the foundations of Western society and religion.

Secrets worth killing for. Murder on a global scale.

Agent William Temple, a former special forces intelligence officer, has just joined F-Branch, a covert operational arm of MI6. For his first mission he is assigned to investigate a secret cult who plan to release a genetically engineered virus. A virus so cleverly created, and so deviously distributed, that it could wipe out all of humanity - all except the chosen few who will rise from the ashes.

After William rescues Ella from abduction, they join forces. Pursued by a ruthless assassin working for the world's most ancient secret society, together they must decode the mysteries of her father's legacy before it's too late. The fate of humanity rests in their hands.

Find the book. Find the vaccine.

The clock is ticking...
